

CUT YOUR TRAINING BUDGET...

...and increase learning

Tuesday 7th July 2009

The Chartered Quality Institute, 12 Grosvenor Crescent, London, SW1X 7EE

This one day Masterclass will ensure that delegates understand how to reduce current Learning & Development spend rationally whilst increasing the effectiveness of Learning & Development activity. This Masterclass uses a mixture of delivery methods to maximise learning with ample opportunity to discuss how concepts can work in a practical situation.

Who should attend?

Budget holders with responsibility for setting annual spending limits and those who manage a training budget – this might include: Chief Executives, Board Directors, Financial Officers, HR & L&D Directors/Managers and Operational Managers.

What are the benefits?

- Learn cost effective ways to engage the workforce in learning
- Explore the hidden costs associated with training activity and how to limit these
- Identify a range of financial (and other benefits) from training interventions
- Enhance current understanding of how to apply your own training budget cuts

Cost:

This Masterclass costs £595 per person and the price includes not only the 1-day face-to-face tuition but also three months personal coaching to help apply techniques in own workplace

Visit our website to view the Masterclass calendar

Masterclass content

Comparing methods of learning
Macro and Micro approaches
Aims, Objectives and Learning Outcomes
Cutting costs
Apportionment and Charges
Varying provision
Increasing financial benefits
Tangible and intangible results
Capacity vs Capability
Improving learning
Andragogical approaches
Case study exercise

How do I attend?

Complete a booking form and send with a cheque (if self-funding) or request an invoice to be raised to your organisation or ask for our BACS details.

Booking forms are available from our website

<http://ofqt.com/contact/course-bookings.html>

